

City University Of New York

Jessica Gordon-Nembhard, Ph.D.

Professor of Community Justice and Social Economic Development; and Political Economist

Department of Africana Studies

Director: The Ronald E. McNair Post- Baccalaureate Achievement Program

Jessica Gordon-Nembhard, Ph.D. bio (short)

Author of Collective Courage: A History of African American Cooperative Economic Thought and Practice (2014), and 2016 inductee into the U.S. Cooperative Hall of Fame, Jessica Gordon-Nembhard, Ph.D., is Professor of Community Justice and Social Economic Development, in the Department of Africana Studies, and Director of the McNair Post-Baccalaureate Achievement Program at John Jay College, CUNY. She is also an affiliate faculty member in the Environmental Psychology Ph.D. Program (Earth and Environmental Sciences, CUNY Graduate Center), and the Economics Masters Program (John Jay); as well as a Faculty Fellow and Mentor with the Institute for the Study of Employee Ownership and Profit Sharing at Rutgers University School of Management and Labor Relations; an affiliate scholar with the Centre for the Study of Co-operatives (University of Saskatchewan, Canada; and a past president of the National Economic Association.

Recipient of the Association for Social Economics' 2022 Thomas F. Divine Award for lifetime contributions to social economics; the 2022 Distinguished Faculty Award from the John Jay Alumni Association; the Association of Co-operative Educators 2021 award for Outstanding Contribution to Co-operative Education and Training (award was named for her in 2022); and the 2017 CASC Merit Award for exemplary contributions to the field of co-operative studies (from the Canadian Association for Studies in Co-operation); Professor Gordon-Nembhard is a political economist specializing in community economic development, solidarity economics, cooperative economics, Black Political Economy, and popular economic literacy. Her research and numerous publications investigate problematics and alternative solutions in community economics, worker ownership, racial wealth inequality, community-based asset building, community-based approaches to justice, and the benefits and impacts of cooperatives on communities, especially Black American and racialized communities. She is co-editor with Ngina Chiteji of Wealth Accumulation and Communities of Color (University of Michigan Press 2006); and author of "African American Cooperatives and Sabotage: The Case for Reparations" (Journal of African American History 2018), for example.

