FUNDACIÓN ISALUD

Application Form for Accreditation to the Open-ended Working Group on Ageing (OEWG)

Q2 The purpose of the organization:

Mission

ISALUD Foundation University is a nonprofit educational and research institution aiming at the development of scientific knowledge for its application in system management and administration, and in organizations and institutions involved in the enhancement of the population life.

Ruled by ISALUD Foundation's institutional principles and purposes and in a framework of freedom and pluralism of thought and disciplines, this institution seeks to advance the knowledge of the main current and future social problems related to the following areas: Health, Environment and Development; Food and Nutrition; Administration and Economy; and Social Policies.

As an institution in liaison with its environment and both nationally and internationally oriented, it focuses on the development of professionals able to have critical and creative impact on their social environment, by contributing towards the achievement of better equity and welfare for the population.

Through ongoing training as the underpinning of the daily professional activity, applied learning merges with theoretical and practical integration into a fluent academic exchange going even beyond national borders.

Vision

ISALUD University endeavors to stand as a national educational institution of excellence in training and research issues, that may provide answers and solutions to health, social, cultural, economic and environmental needs and in turn develop knowledge to contribute to population's welfare.

Goals

Provide theoretical and methodological training and refreshment to professionals from different areas related to Public Health, Social Security, Economy, Social Sciences and all those involved with human development.

Train in project planning, implementation and assessment at both macro and micro level in the Health, Human Development and Environmental areas.

Contribute to the dissemination of knowledge related to its areas of expertise through different IT, graphic and audiovisual resources.
Offer technical assistance and establish relationships, agreements, or cooperation with local and foreign counterpart institutions for the purpose of tasks related to its specific areas of expertise.

Cooperate with national and international colleges, international bodies and other public or private institutions for human resources training, research and knowledge application.

Organize and conduct university outreach activities in its specific areas of expertise intended for the community and its member institutions.

Develop procedures, methods and systems for management, project formulation and Social Sciences research.

Q3 Information as to the programmes and activities of the organization in areas relevant to the human rights of older persons:

Center on Active Aging and Longevity:

Management: Silvia Gascón

The Center for Studies on Aging, of the ISALUD University, will allow generating, deepening and transferring knowledge to understand more and better the process of individual and demographic aging. It will also carry out studies on the situation of older people in Argentina with an international perspective, its social determinants, as well as programs, services and policies aimed at responding to the new needs and opportunities that aging poses.

Through the areas of teaching, research, technical assistance and extension it is proposed to contribute to generate empirical knowledge and good practices in the field of Geriatrics and Gerontology.

The production of the Center will seek to serve as a platform and support to the sector by promoting the exchange of ideas and experiences of different agents involved in this issue.

Mission: Development and consolidation of an interdisciplinary, open and plural academic center for the production of knowledge, dissemination, teaching and extension that is a reference in national and international debates on the topics of aging and longevity.

Objectives:

- Produce knowledge, assessment instruments and management tools linked to the needs of the elderly and socio-health services aimed at satisfying them.
 - Promote empirical research on issues of aging, longevity, health and social services.
 - Validate in our country and in other Latin American countries reliable valuation instruments of international use for their application in the design and management of social and health services for the elderly, as well as to ensure friendlier environments.
 - To develop actions and programs of academic formation, professional formation and permanent qualification of degree, undergraduate, postgraduate university, technical education, and activities of community extension.
 - Develop activities of extension, dissemination and exchange of knowledge related to aging and longevity, in the country and in international settings.
 - Provide inputs for the formulation of programs, services and policies based on empirical evidence oriented to social and health aspects of the elderly.
 - Design and implement innovative management modalities in the field of social and health services for the elderly.

Q4 Confirmation of the activities of the organization at the national, regional or international level:

Since it was proposed by the WHO in 2006, the Friendly Cities with Age program aims to guide the improvement of cities to eliminate the barriers that prevent the full social integration of older people and people from any age with functional problems. The elimination of urban barriers is one of the main causes of the decrease in the prevalence of permanent limitations in countries with highly aged populations. ISALUD Foundation was convened from its origins and deploys an active presence in the world forum through the continuity of research, teaching and extension activities. The work developed as part of the extension program in the city of La Plata and the academic recognition of the Master's degree and the trajectory of the University were the main reasons to be selected.

The ISALUD Foundation, through its Master's Program, integrates the Aging Advisory Committee of the Ministry of Health of the Nation, the Consultative Committee on Aging of the Pan American Health Organization and has integrated the HelpAge International Board .

At the international level, the Center for Active Aging and Longevity has been actively involved in the activities of HelpAge International for 20 years. Occupying a position on the Board for the last 10 years, and currently the Management of the Center has been appointed Ambassador of HelpAge for América.

Likewise, the ISALUD Foundation was designated Focal Point of the Southern Sub Region from where the tasks of disseminating the Convention in the Southern Subregion are being organized this year.
