Q1 Name of the organization:

Alzheimer's Disease international (ADI)

Q2 The purpose of the organization:

Alzheimer's Disease International (ADI) is the global umbrella organisation of Alzheimer associations, representing 94 organisations and has been in official relations with the WHO since 1996. Our vision is prevention, care and inclusion today, and cure tomorrow. Our mission is to strengthen and support Alzheimer associations, to raise awareness about dementia worldwide, to make dementia a global health priority, to empower people with dementia and their care partners, and to increase investment in dementia research. Our strategic priorities include making dementia a global health priority, reducing stigma, strengthening membership, facilitating research.

Q3 Information as to the programmes and activities of the organization in areas relevant to the human rights of older persons:

In April 2016, members of Alzheimer's Disease International (ADI) formally adopted a Rights Based Approach to dementia advocacy in support of the ongoing efforts of partners Dementia Alliance International (DAI) to guarantee the rights of people living with dementia globally. We advocate for equal access to the United Nations (UN) Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) and the UN Sustainable Development Goals (2015), including producing publications on these topics, accessible here: <https://www.alz.co.uk/human-rights>. We encourage the inclusion of a rights based approach to the development of national dementia plans in response to the WHO Global action plan on the public health response to dementia 2017-2025. There are a growing number of examples of plans with strength in this area. In January 2018 we successfully pushed for the specific inclusion of dementia, under ageing, as part of the WHO General Programme of Work 2019-2023. We continue to engage with the NGO Committee on Ageing, Geneva and a growing network of NGOs operating in the sector.
